Take me home
For one day
Wherever home would be
All I Touched around burned
My fingerprints
Clarity has dried my throat
And I Can't hum any more
Lullabies about us
Sky will keep my secrets crushed within the clouds

You...
You will go.

And I can't see it flaming through your teary eyes
You...
You have promised

Only the memories will keep us half alive
I drift outside

Days will be
Just like before
As if we never met
I remain still and silent
Pretending
Stealing
Being the unpredictable

You...
You will go.

And I can see it flaming through your teary eyes
You have promised
Only the memories will keep us half alive

I drift Outside...
