"Children Of The Electric Currency"

Fed by waves
the children dance
atop the mountain high
the wizzard speaks
in tones and hymns
as the electric hawk cries
the children mourn
for corruption is born
imposing judgement
the bishops descent
preaching the end is nigh heavy riders of the storm through blackened night through the haze
of smoke and riff
they ride to fight
with blackend hearts
and heavy swords
they travel north

demanding priest and lords bring the bishop forth golgothan axe of sharpened bone and steel beheading priests and guards
of the cathedral
thunder in the night
electrical impedence
swinging the axe of divination golgothan mounts the percheron at the bishops invocaiton beheading nephilims they ascends to the cathedral walls
they strum the riffs
of both gods and myths watching the bishop fall
