

Rusty Anderson

"Damaged goods"

Visit "Damaged goods" on MotoLyrics.com

She made me feel like all of the walls up have crumbled
Somehow I just must have stumbled
On something I don't deserve
Lately it seems like all of my dreams are unfolding
But I still feel like I'm holding
A card that says "do not pass go"
Sometimes I feel like I'm living someone else's life
Cause this one ain't mine
I used to have one that I left behind

Last thing I knew my ship ran aground and was sinking Destined to drown in my thinking
How long can she keep it at bay
Sometimes I feel like I'm living someone else's life
Cause this one ain't mine
I used to have one that I left behind
Damaged goods on borrowed time
There's something wrong here cause this one ain't
mine

Sometimes I feel like I'm living someone else's life
Cause this one ain't mine
I used to have one that I left behind
Damaged goods on borrowed time
There's something wrong here cause this one ain't
mine

Visit Rusty Anderson page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.