No one move
no one speak please don't say that its just me its not just me and even though I wont forget just don't want this to end just yet
not just yet
But if I had one chance to freeze time
and stand still and soak in everything I'd choose right now
if I had on night where sunshine
Could break through and show you everything
I'd choose right now
If this is it all we have
I know I've done all I can
if this is it
and we cant stop and start again we cant fast forward to the end this is it
But if I had one chance to freeze time
id choose right now
if I had one night where sunshine
Could break through and show you everything
id choose right now
before the fears that I once had start coming back

And I can take the sticks (or slings) and stones and fire Because I know you make it all worthwhile
And every time I focus over oh (or, and every time I fall cause its over)
You know this crowd can drag me up again And again
oh please come back again
oh please come back again

And I'm so scared
I might forget
Just don't want this to end just yet

Not just yet

But if I had one chance to freeze time
id choose right now
id choose right now
Again
