Taking my love and leaving sunshine
Giving your heart for mine
Parting the clouds that once had left me blind

These are the things you've given to me
These are the things I love
These are the things I hope I'm worthy of I just hope the words I'm singing say enough

'Cause the words you spoke to me were magic
They meant more than I think you ever knew
You stirred forgotten feelings and you made them
move
And touched me til I fell in love with you
So, in light of all the changes I've been through
What else could I do?

If I never was ever closer to you
Than anyone else you've known
You still made me feel your love was all my own

Even before we'd ever met
It was you I was running to
I might have been lost, but baby, I found you Now I'm falling in love. What else could I do?

'Cause the words you spoke to me were magic.
They meant more than I think you ever knew
You stirred forgotten feelings and you made them
move
And touched me til I fell in love with you
So, in light of all the changes I've been through
What else could I do?

Taking my love, and leaving sunshine
Giving your heart so true
You've opened a door I can't help walking through
So I ask you, girl, what else could I do?
Could I do, could I do, could I do
