

Steve Stipp "Winter Girl"

Visit "Winter Girl" on MotoLyrics.com

Winter girl
Couldn't stand it in my summer world
Showed her colors when her flag unfurled
And blew our love away

A brittle soul
Blue ice, shining, smooth, and hard to hold
Winter's beauty with its touch so cold
I had to turn away

Soft and powdered, the surface hides a frozen heart
You break the ice and
You watch the surface break apart
Behind her smile, an empty stare
Her sultry guile, a freezing air

Winter girl
Thought I'd found myself a secret pearl
But I lost it in a snowy swirl
Her closest thing to love

My advice
To one incapable of sacrifice
Let me hold you, let me melt the ice
That locks your heart away

Soft and powdered, the surface hides a frozen heart
You break the ice and
You watch the surface break apart
Behind her smile, an empty stare
Her sultry guile, a freezing air

Just in case
You should ever seek a warm embrace
Come with me and share my fireplace
There's always room for two

Visit Steve Stipp page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.