

The New York Room

"Halo"

Walking in after a 3 day wait
And a 20 minute drive
It feels like forever
And at least a day or two
Since I've been in your arms

It's 3am and you've been up since 12
Waiting for all my roads
To lead me to your door

So weak I am as we embrace for the first time in about 10,000 miles
As you take my hand, lead me up the stairs to your room
Shut the door, take your face, you're beautiful tonight

In candle light
And I've missed your touch
As I whisper in your ear
You're everything to me
And tonight I'm yours

So here we are, embracing the dark
Kisses, closed eyes
Heartbeats and thighs
I'm lost in you
Running my hands through your blonde hair
Tracing red lines down my sore back
I'll stay tonight remind me not to leave you again
