please take me to heaven
in a black and white dream we will drift on clouds of ivory on a smoking air stream and then we will float away

on heroic glass wings we will float beside the angels and cut the stars from their strings and then the night will fade

on a promise you will keep we will make a bed of wishing in a garden of sleep and then come what may

in a blanket of night we will keep our bodies warm and let our shadows take flight and we will be on our way

on a kiss with closed eyes we will walk between the spaces of the air and the skies until the light of day

in the warmth of your arms we will swim in seas of touching and we will drown in its charms and we will forever stay
