

The New York Room

"Never Was"

Visit "Never Was" on MotoLyrics.com

One more time, here's one for the books
It's not your average anthem song
In fact it's quite the opposite I've got one last thing to say
I've got to get this off my chest

And you say, "If you're not now you never were"
Well tell me what I've been.

And you just talk talk talk, cause it's such an earth shattering thing
And all those things you said about standing by my side
When you cut me down with your two faced lies they're just words

You're not any better than anyone
Your friendship comes at such a price

Have I been faking this for so many years?
If this changes you and me well, you never were my friend.

I can still look back with a smile on my face Remembering the good times that we had But you've let this go to far, you've let this go to your head
You've chosen your beliefs over long time friends
And how am I any worse for anything I've done
I moved on and you stabbed me in the back
Look yourself in the eyes and ask, "Am I right?"
We kick the weak, but who is the weak?

Visit The New York Room page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.