"End Game"

Your back's against the wall this time and
I can see the fear in your eyes
You never thought I'd go this far
There's nothing left for you to say

All your words and all your smiles
Don't add up to much right now
You must finally make choice
Reveal yourself or back away

Hear what I say
Your world falls apart
All the wrongs made right
Opposition falls away

Everything is clear
End is coming near
Play your final part
Truth reveals just what you are

Idols that you once held dear will
Not survive the coming fire
All your faith in man made things
Won't save you from a grave defeat

Calculated power plays
False debate and backroom deals
What weapons have you left to use?
Politics are no use now

Change descending
Hatred rising
One more card you have not shown

Truth revealed now
No use hiding
Killing not beneath you now
