What I have always dreamed
Has now been given me
An outright bribe for silence
But yet I can't decline

I can't deny my passion
It burns within my soul
Reclaim my own destiny
To reach out and beyond

Dreams and visions soared
When Saturn ruled the skies
Nation's pride restored
When Saturn ruled the skies
All the wrongs made right
When Saturn ruled the skies
A new age arrived
When Saturn ruled the skies

Hidden in my heart so long
A secret never told
Except to my own father
He knows me all too well

I watch the world arise
From a thousand miles away
The night is cold and lonely
I long to feel the sun

I must restrain my fear
And chart the course ahead
Let go of all my anger
The time is drawing near
