[Chorus]

Seems like every time they try to bring ourselves up
After the love's is run up and doors have been shot We take a good look around and see if anybody is there

I really don't see anybody anywhere and now I really don't see how

How we are supposed to get off the ground after we take a good look around
Take a good look around

I love you like a brother defended it you pretended you Admit it to do me wrong I made excuses in amends with you

I took a side when other friends of mine offended you But now I realize they was right

And now what is left to do is ditch you forget you I can't believe I let you just get the best of me

You acted like I disrespected you

Were you jealous did you see me like treat to you Didn't know that hows are more then what a friendship meant to you

I let you in my home I even doubled up my rent for you So you can take my ex I am a mess and ouns she slept
with you

But did it ever cross your mind to who connected you The loyalties with me you really thought they will be protecting you

You're struggling for work my fucking manager cut checks for you

And now you have the nerve to sit none of us accepted
you

I went from friends with you to question your intentions
Now I can't fuck it stomach standing next to you

[Chorus]

Seems like every time they try to bring ourselves up
After the love's is run up and doors have been shot
We take a good look around and see if anybody is
there

I really don't see anybody anywhere and now I really

don't see how
How we are supposed to get off the ground after we
take a good look around
Take a good look around

Sometimes I hate you
When we grey up together girl I raised you
And try to show you a little ass before they hang you I have seen you go through phases
When your father left and changed you And I think that made you crazy
You were once a perfect angel
I know you want somebody who can save you But you should have saved yourself and left somebody who could face you
You scared of men and now all them lesbians that date you they
They distressful and hateful they don't appreciate you
This life is crazy when you figure out you ain't shit When you realize you and your sisters are fucking the same chicks
Your older sisters keep on repeating the same mistakes
And every year a different dude gona get with her and she try to raise kids
The shit is dangerous I wonder how my nieces feel When everybody around them keep on changing like the season will How you are suppose to teach them love when you been cheating still Think about the cost before you go chase the cheapest thrill

[Chorus]
Seems like every time they try to bring ourselves up
After the love's is run up and doors have been shot
We take a good look around and see if anybody is
there
I really don't see anybody anywhere and now I really don't see how
How we are supposed to get off the ground after we
take a good look around
Take a good look around

I ain't abandoning you I know I live a lot but I come back to you
I knew you back when you was that Kodak and getting cash for food
Before the cats on all the avenues sold crack to you
And then they strung you out
And now you are doing things that addicts do

I was a champ for you, made everyone a fan of you And every video and interview I took my hat to you What's a man to do when everything I handed you Your ass took for granted now the shit damaged you You are fucking wrong you spread disease to all ho smash in you
And you sell your ass to all your kids â€¦ with you That's the example that you are setting all they have is
you
Remember you where younger when you dreamed and you had talent to You're in vacancy in a basement sucking glasses in you You're just a fucking number everybody fucking ass on
you
And is ironic you the rocking gota have it too
But something got to change before it shatters you
