A sudden rush of expectation as I realize it's you
Like a river in a drought full season, how cool you didn't call
Initial hint of disappointment, the mirror of my smile
That isn't there, that doesn't follow a very causal hi
Why did you come at all if it wasn't for me?
Why did you come at all if it wasn't for me?
Why did you come at all if it wasn't for me?
Why did you come at all? Why did you come at all?
Another blow of resignation when I realize I do
Now in your hands, the book you borrowed
The whole way we first met, comes together in my head
When the picture's clear you've left
Why did you come at all if it wasn't for me?
Why did you come at all if it wasn't for me?
Why did you come at all if it wasn't for me?
Why did you come at all? Why did you come at all?
Why did you come at all? Why did you come at all?
Why did you come at all? Why did you come at all?
Why did you come at all? Why did you come at all?
