Love breaks your heart each time
Feels just like a knife

I can feel the tears you cry
Running down my face sometimes
If you really leave me now
All my dreams will end somehow

Only wish that I could stop these changes
Like a rock between a path
But now the sun that once bestowed a sunshine
Doesn't care what we once had

I am only half of me
How can I move on empty?
I try to find what I did wrong
But now I see that hope is gone

Neither one of us is guilty
So why did we give up completely?
I still believe that life continues
But what can life mean to me?

Love breaks your heart each time
Rain falls from inside
Love breaks your heart each time
Feels just like a knife
Love breaks your heart each time
Dark clouds fill the sky

Only wish that I could stop these changes
Like a rock between a path
But now the sun once bestowed a sunshine
Doesn't care what we once had

I am only half of me
How can I move on empty?
I try to find what I did wrong
But now I see that hope is gone

Neither one of us is guilty
So why did we give up completely?

I still believe that life continues
But what can life mean to me?

Love breaks your heart each time
Rain falls from inside
Love breaks your heart each time
Feels just like a knife
Love breaks your heart each time
Dark clouds fill the sky

I can feel the tears you cry
Running down my face sometimes
If you really leave me now
All my dreams will end somehow
I can feel the tears you cry
Running down my face sometimes
If you really leave me now
All my dreams will end somehow

Love breaks your heart each time
Rain falls from inside
Love breaks your heart each time
Feels just like a knife
Love breaks your heart each time
Dark clouds fill the sky
