I've got these plans can't seem to follow through with them
I've got these hands where everything falls out I'll pretend
That I've got all this figured out and I found the cure for feeling down
Remind me not to look away when I say That things are alright, but you know that I'm such a bad liar
You think I haven't figured you out, cause I know what you're all about

Should this be it would it be for the better
To call it off now before it gets any deeper I've got this terrible feeling that it won't be long Please prove me wrong

It's been too long
I'm just another face in the crowd
Another person you never cared about
It's been too long
You think I haven't figured you out Cause I know what you're all about

I guess this is it and it'll be for the better We'll call it off now before it gets any deeper
