I woke up this morning with the sun out shining in I found my mind in a brown paper bag but then I tripped on a cloud and fell eight miles high I tore my mind on a jagged sky
I just dropped in to see what condition my condition was in
I pushed my soul in a deep dark hole and then i followed in
I watched myself crawling out now, as i came crawling in
I got up so tight i couldn't unwind
I saw so much, i broke my mind
I just dropped in to see what condition my condition
was in Somebody painted april fool in big black letters on a dead end sign
I had my foot on the gas as i left the road and blew out my mind
Eight miles out of memphis and i got no spare Eight miles straight up downtown somewhere
I just dropped in to see what condition my condition
was in
