These lyrics were taken from an edition of The Witness, the Official fan newsletter.

Viviane

I will love you till the last nail has been driven in

Viviane

Till we disappear hand in hand into oblivian (sic)

Oh Viviane

I will love you until the void delivers us from this world we're living in

Oh oh Viviane

I love you until the ghost of your smile grows faint and withering

Viviane

You are my heroin, my aspirin, my insulin

Viviane

The winds of change are blowing and I am shivering....
(...the rest (if indeed there is any more) is obscured.)
