These train tracks
Running cross my state of mind
That rumble through the night below the stars
It's pitch black
No sooner do I strike the match
Then my own breath returns me to the dark
You never were in love with her
You tell yourself but you're not sure
You cast your mind back in time
And nearly crash your car
And suddenly you are
Suddenly you are
Suddenly you are
In echoes
Reflecting as they ricochet
Like light escaping crystal figurines
We don't know
How much we love or who it's for
And really not what any of it means
You know the end
You crash again
It's not enough that you have friends
You cry you're not in love
You're not
You say it's not in the cards
And suddenly you are
Suddenly you are
Suddenly you are
Yeah, suddenly your heart isn't that bizarre
What a time, what a time to start
Suddenly you are
Oooh, isn't that bizarre?
Yeah
Suddenly you are
Suddenly, you are
