She sat down waiting on the bus
The bus she used to take
The time was past
She just sat there

And as the days went by the days turned in to years
The past is present
she won't sit there again

I woke up feeling like a kid
A kid with his summer burned skin
And in that moment
Life was at ease

I hope you find your way your way back home
Little girl where are you from

Some guys in suits came by Just a just a it to late
She sat down on the bus with a with a coke in her hand
I came back home the days been rough I lay down turned the TV on

I watched the news and what do i see

I hope you find yourself yourself again
Somethings wrong you wont come home
Find yourself yourself again something's wrong you won't come home again.

She came back as a picture on the wall
Hung you up and think that was all Memories are still being sung even thou it wasn't on you're tongue

Find yourself yourself again
Something's wrong you won't come home
Find yourself yourself again
Something's wrong you won't come home
Find yourself yourself again
Something's wrong but you did come home again

I hope you find yourself yourself again
Something's wrong but you did come home again
