I stare at the ceiling all night long
I just can't help the feeling that something is wrong

I'm tired of pretending
That everything's fine
Feels like forever alone

I wait and I worry and knock off the time
Til you come back home

Sometimes I blame you for going away
I loose my temper but I never loose faith

But I'm tired of pretending
Everything's fine
Feels like forever alone

I wait and I worry and knock off the time
Til you come back home

I don't watch the TV
I don't read the news
I don't wanna know,
I've got too much to loose

But I'm tired of pretending
That everything's fine
Feels like forever alone

I wait and I worry and knock off the time
Til you come back home
Just come back home
