a part of me you have a part of me you hold
apart from me you stand
and there's parts that you had stole littering in the cupboards like some pieces of the puzzle a nest just like a mother the dampness of your sweater

it's never put together as i watched you from the window behind the curtains you turned slowly as a teather wrap around you tightly this love is built in metal fall around in shadows

...

fall slowly as a feather

the part of you i have the part of you i hide
the parts of you i hold the parts you left behind

call me
i'll be there always

and call me

part of me you have

the parts of you i stole
