This candle light won't burn forever
The photo in my head has faded
I count the days till I can kiss your lips
See if you're still falling for my taste
I don't wanna be somebody, you once knew
I was hoping for much more from you

So pack up all your bags
You should make your way
This isn't home without you
And I miss your face
I'll be here with arms wide open
And I'll turn the lights down low
So just think about it maybe
Just think about it
And come home
And come home

There's a hole in my apartment, and my heart is not the same
I wonder if you feel this cold where you lay
I am not the same without you, and my world is upside down
So will you please come home I need you now
I don't wanna be a memory you once had
We were promised so much more than that

So pack up all your bags
You should make your way
This isn't home without you
And I miss your face
I'll be here with arms wide open
And I'll turn the lights down low
Well just think about it maybe
Just think about it
And come home
And come home

I don't wanna be somebody, you once knew
I was hoping for much more from you

So pack up all your bags
You should make your way
Now this isn't home without you
And I miss your face
I'll be here with arms wide open
And I'll turn the lights down low
So just think about it maybe
Just think about it
And come home
And come home
And come home
And come home
