But one day...

But one day...

Well I don't know much about holding back
I've never been one to sit down relax
Watching the world, let it pass me by
Keep on pushing till the day I die

I don't know much but this much is true
I leave you here, find something new
Pack up all my bags and walk away, today
Smile a little brighter, let it shine and light my way

Cause one day, I'll spread my wings
And fly to where the birds can sing
One day, I'll spread my wings and fly
Cause nothing, comes easily
That's worth a dime or anything
I'll be waiting patiently
For one day
One day

Now I know you said that it can't be done
I look at you and think "what have you done?"
Taking advice from a girl like you
You pretty much mess up everything you do

I'll take your words but I live with mine
I wave as I cross the finish line
Cause nothing worth a thing comes easily to me
So breathe a little deeper, let the air become my wings

Cause one day, I'll spread my wings
And fly to where the birds can sing
One day, I'll spread my wings and fly
Cause nothing, comes easily

That's worth a dime or anything
I'll be waiting patiently
For one day

Soon it might not be this week, this month or not this year
One day soon enough I'm gonna make it loud and clear
Nothing new can come around, hold me back or hold me down
I'll be waiting patiently
For one day
For one day

Cause one day, I'll spread my wings
And fly to where the birds can sing
One day, I'll spread my wings and fly
Cause nothing, comes easily
That's worth a dime or anything
I'll be waiting patiently
Yeah, I'll be waiting patiently
Yeah, I'll be waiting patiently
For one day
