All it takes is an honest mistake, now I find you here.
You've been here before and triped up all this shadows

Why did you run?

Why did you run?

When I'm righth here

It's all gonna be the same, when you get there.

Now that we see the signs can we walk this line together?
Now that we know it's time can we walk this line together?

It's late september and all I remeber is you dear
With fallllen leaves I get back on my knees to surrender

Why did you run?

Why did you run?

When I'm righth here

It's all gonna be the same, when you get there.

Now that we see the signs can we walk this line together?
Now that we know it's time can we walk this line together?

This is the day we came to say all of the pain has come and gone away
This is the one way dove, today we come together.

Now that we see the signs can we walk this line together?
Now that we know it's time can we walk this line together?
