Stop wait a minute cuz I didn't say that Your putting words in my mouth and I really hate that When did you discover you could read my mind
When I don't even know what I'm feeling inside
Staring in your eyes do I really see you Maybe I'm blinded by the things I've been through Looking for the answers but we don't have any Questions well I got them and there's just so many Tearing me apart cuz there's so much to lose

Where do we go, where have we gone
Can I get past on the dance running through my head
are you the one
Will we survive, forever's so long,
Well tell me are we are we just, temporary

Were so deep in it that it's hard to see it
And if there's a big picture tell me where do we fit Cuz the lines of our lives have fallen across
And we can't go back cuz history is lost
And the futures cloudy as the skies overhead

Where do we go, where have we gone
Can I get past on the dance running through my head
are you the one
Will we survive, forever's so long,
Well tell me are we are we only just, temporary

And baby I'm still fighting all the things I've been denying
It's so hard to figure out
Are we loving, leaving, losing, who we are
And if we've come this far

Where do we go, where have we gone (where have we have gone)
Can I get past on the dance running through my head
are you the one
Will we survive(will we survive), forever's so long (forever's so long)
Well tell me are we are we only just, temporary

I don't wanna be the one to look back and regret the things I've done
I don't wanna be the one who's standing here waiting for the air to clear
So can't we make it right tonight, or tell me are we only just temporary
