"Sound Of Your Silence"

I hear my heart beating in spite of me
The echo of all that we used to be
Screaming inside of my head
Like a needle that's stuck on a broken word
Keeps reminding me of how much it hurts
Everything I never said.

Cause I can't stop hoping to see your face
When I wake up next to this empty space
Where you used to be
Now it just keeps haunting me
The sound of your silence
I can't let this darkness hold me down
But this gravity won't let my feet off the ground
Since you went away, now I know I can't escape
The sound of your silence.

I think of all the plans that we never made
Was stranded where angel's voices fade
Can you teach me how to let you go?
I tell myself that I can make it without you now
Try to build a wall but it's falling down
Do you even know?

Cause I can't stop hoping to see your face
When I wake up next to this empty space
Where you used to be
Now it just keeps haunting me
The sound of your silence
I can't let this darkness hold me down
But this gravity won't let my feet off the ground
Since you went away, now I know I can't escape
The sound of your silence.

If I could take it back, I'd take it back
I never wanna say goodbye

Cause I can't stop hoping to see your face
When I wake up next to this empty space
Where you used to be
Now it just keeps haunting me

The sound of your silence
I can't let this darkness hold me down
But this gravity won't let my feet off the ground
Since you went away, now I know I can't escape
The sound of your silence.

The sound of your silence.
