why do we come here?
why are we having this conversation?
if these walls have ears, they must be bored but i want to hear more can't get enough of your observations i've heard it all before but that's the point.

'cause in a world where it's hard to dream you take escape where you can find it in a world where it's hard to sleep you are my peace, you are my quiet and that's why we come here that's why we come here together we are a place where nothing falters and nothing changes when nothing else feels safe we have this dance when everything just moves but doesn't seem to have a direction when nothing else seems true i move to you

i'm your warm milk you're my oasis life is waiting now we can face it

you are my peace ,you are my quiet
