He's been a drifter all his life
He's been to places that you will never find
And all the things, and all the lies
He has seen the betrayal a million times

Every time he looked around, there was nobody there
That he could trust, full of lies they were
Now everytime he will be, the one who don't care
About anything and anyone no more

So full of lies
Oh, no more
Won't pay the price
Oh, no more

And forever he will travel on
No need to find his place
Only broken hearts he left behind
There is noone who can tame this Wildheart

Out from the shadows, into the light
One of a kind, you can't stop him tonight
Still moving on from town to town
He is dressed into veil of mystery

Like a tiger in a cage, there's no chains he can't break

Can't tie him down, there's no use to try
Now just look into his eyes, you can't break the ice
A heart of stone wants noone 'round

Can't tie him down
Oh, no one
No one around
Oh, around

And forever he will travel on
No need to find his place
Only broken hearts he left behind
There is noone who can tame this Wildheart

He'll find his way, don't care about the pain

Though the trail of tears he'll march on every day
No one to blame, still feeds the flame
Oh, for this burning heart

And forever he will travel on
No need to find his place
Only broken hearts he left behind
There is no one who can tame this Wildheart
