(Too late too late too late)

Too late too late to ask forgiveness too late too late for me to cry

She's gone she's gone she left this morning and this is how she said goodbye

Upon my pillow was a letter it said you'll wake and find me gone

You just won't change the way you're living so you'll be better off alone

You know I love you as no other but you have played around too long

Goodbye goodluck and don't forget me for I will be a long time gone

Too late too late my heart keeps crying I should have known you'd go away

Too late cause now I'll have to suffer it always seems to end that way
