Now that I know who you are
I can safely say tonight I'll fall asleep
I drift away in your arms
But who's to say you'll stay when morning breaks on me

You'll never be here when I wake Without you I can't find my place
The sun sets alone on me today

You're still in the constant clutter of my mind love
One day I won't have to remember to forget you love
But as it is I know that I will not be strong enough for long enough
And for now I think I'll just allow me to be stranded by your love

Now that you know who I am
Are you still wanting this? I'm wanting this-
The way you hold my shaking hand
You know just how to pull a girl into your unexpected orbit and away from her familiar world

Tomorrow's looking bleak tonight
I've lost the will to sleep tonight
I give into the bedside light

You're still in the constant clutter of my mind love
One day I won't have to remember to forget you love
But as it is I know that I will not be strong enough for
long enough
And for now I think I'll just allow me to be stranded by
your love

It's your right to decide You've sure made up your mind
Just know I would fit into your life
I would've been your missing piece and you could've been mine
But it's fine I'll just be restless tonight

You're still in the constant clutter of my mind love

But as it is I know that I will not be strong enough for
long enough
And for now I think I'll just allow me to be stranded by
your love

Tomorrow's looking bleak tonight
I've lost the will to sleep tonight
I give into the bedside light
