You were always in my shadow,
you don't seem to have one of your own.
i still need time to realise if this space is home.

I don't know if i'm pure enough
to wake me up, to wake me up
from the feeling of regret.
I don't know if i'm pure enough
or strong enough to even wake up at all.

I don't know if i'm pure enough
to wake me up, to wake me up
from the feeling of regret.
I don't know if i'm pure enough
or strong enough to want to wake up at all.

Flying over the moon,
jumping over the cow,
trying to get back to you but this space is empty now, Vacant deserts in the storm, melting heart as I walk.

You were always in my shadow,
but now you're not.
Although the light is following me,
i'm not warmed by it much.

I don't know if i'm pure enough
to wake me up, to wake me up
from the feeling of regret.
I don't know if i'm pure enough
or strong enough to even wake up at all.

I don't know if i'm pure enough
to wake me up, to wake me up
from the feeling of regret.
I don't know if i'm pure enough

or strong enough to want to wake up at all.

You were always in my shadow,

you don't seem to have one of your own.
i still need time to realise if this space is home.

I don't know if i'm pure enough
to wake me up, to wake me up
from the feeling of regret.
I don't know if i'm pure enough
or strong enough to even wake up at all.

I don't know if i'm pure enough
to wake me up, to wake me up
from the feeling of regret.
I don't know if i'm pure enough
or strong enough to want to wake up at all.

Through the plains, through the hills time swallows me like the easiest of pills.
Though remedy I'm not for the ills of the land.
I'm often caught short by the temptations around.

I don't know if i'm pure enough
to wake me up, to wake me up
from the feeling of regret.
I don't know if i'm pure enough
or strong enough to even wake up at all.

I don't know if i'm pure enough
to wake me up, to wake me up
from the feeling of regret.
I don't know if i'm pure enough
or strong enough to want to wake up at all.
