The black sky
and the stars above the city lights, collided
People streamed outside into the night.

The street lamps
that flickered on illuminate your eyes
in a slow dance.
And then moved along with the fireflies.

Watching the night orbit out in space.
Take to the sky we rush in its place.
Planets unite
and all relieves your mind.
Oh

A bird cries
softly in the distance as we close our eyes.
And the stars begin to drift away.

A sun rose gently against the orange sky
in tight bows
of clouds that now had come to life.
Oh, oh, (oh oh).
Oh, oh, (oh oh).

Watching the night orbit out in space.
Take to the sky we rush in its place.
Planets unite
and all relieves your mind.

Taking all the time.
Taking in the sky.
Watching through the night.

Watching the night orbit out in space.
Take to the sky we rush in its place.
Planets unite
and all relieves your mind.

Taking the time to shift to its shape.

Never the same for ever will change.
And most of the time we let it pass us by.
