I treat life with an appetite for space Inspired by elevation Sea level celebration Whatever state I'm in it'll never end, my exploration What keeps driving me?

There are people in life just trying to find their way Now somewhere beyond survival there's a world where people thrive on worlds of change

I think it's safe to say The road paved to enlightenment's in me

I feel that we In this world we make Can make a world of change

I think it's safe to say You can do without your disbelief today Don't think I never felt that way Take comfort everything will be ok
