

Calvin Crabtree "Cant Take It Back"

Visit "Cant Take It Back" on MotoLyrics.com remember the time we had i feel its wasted now i know nothing can replace see ya love im bout to chase it couse i miss ya girl i know you can give a fuck less it sux being like this liveing this life loveless the worls is so cold and still i carry on hopeing we can get back together please god dont move on i grew up in this worls so alone so it aint no thing im trying to keep loveing you an everyday thing i hope you feel the tears when i sing couse it let me know im on ya brain ans when the day comes you forget i ever even exzisted i guess thin i relise i aint shit huh my brain aint twisted its just the pain i can take it all them years wasted cant take it back cant get it back you love how it was living this life used and so alone its the curse of the thug prying to god he will send me some one from above some one to love (x 2) like a dream i feel forgotten just like that i wanted to be in your arms but insted i wrote this rap to get is back would be something but where nothing just wish i couls see the look in your eyes the first time you hear this song bumpin now do you relise i aint frunting you got it backwards turned something in to nothing feeling like my carear so-lo you just aint the serious i know i could find better but thats not the point my feelings are forever im just not that cold to make it better i pretend you put my love on hold like me its starting to get old its like oyull never mature i was shure it was real i wish i had some potion to show you how i feel but would you ever cry and think about calling me on the phone and try to make up do you ever think of the first time we made love and to think i was in love

cant take it back cant get it back you love how it was
living this life used and so alone its the curse of the
thug prying to god he will

send me some one from above some one to love (x 4)

love yea its such a strong word so how was i servin' em' soft an original resape is on the menu now back in the kitchen calvin crabtree still on a mission do you keep forgetting all them things you sed and all them things you did i remember every littel bit wish i could forget maby in due time have i lost my mind naw but possably the love of my life im allright been threw it befor but not this deep still think about you even in my sleep its something haunting but ill be the goast looking for love they way things are going couse every one is turning out fake is this my fate?

cant take it back cant get it back you love how it was
living this life used and so alone its the curse of the
thug prying to god he will

send me some one from above some one to love (x 4)

Visit Calvin Crabtree page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.