Featuring Bishop Lamont

I mean who is supposed to trust?

Same people we always trust

F*ck you mister politician, don't wanna listen?

Nothing you plan to offer can get me out my position mama still in the hospital, bad read it in her head spinnin'

poppin' the pain killers, fed from a tool listen

don't give a f*ck if you ain't his views and different

I'ma have to pay for my sons school tuition learning, he won't probably views, third shipped in the worse condition

I sort of missed them days of Bill Clinton

Bill gettin' seen the stack up to the ceiling

I find that appealing, stead of this bullshit you're dealing,

Cards are even odds, are even hard,

mama pray to Lord keep belivin' in God and for..maybe not, but we're not gettin off for these blocks,

were to act, get in dark in hell in cop, the barely pop, born in position, we put it hard to avoid and the devil knows just where do employ.

Shit!

Hook:

'cause I don't lie tune, one hundred pure.

Who were you gonna trust, I said them it's simple mathematics,

number one public enemy with the pan passion

I become the only one you can rely on,

'cause I don't lie tune, one hundred pure.

'cause niggas getting flip like hot cakes,
