Breathe without you, how can I breathe without you
Breathe without you, I'll never breathe without you

Coming in the distance from me to you, and the need to surface

All colors fade to blue, getting through another night, sleeping through another day
Heaven seems so far away

Breathe without you, how can I breathe without you
Breathe without you, I'll never breathe without you
Breathe without you, how can I breathe without you
Breathe without you, I'll never breathe without you

Swimming through the images you left behind, fictions of the heart, not sure I try to find

Getting through another night, sleeping through another day
Heaven seems so far away
There may be questions I don't know, maybe answers I regret,
But there's too many things I can't forget

Breathe without you, how can I breathe without you
Breathe without you, I'll never breathe without you
Breathe without you, how can I breathe without you
Breathe without you, I'll never breathe without you
