That eerie abode over there between the fires silent breathes is my palace, there where I rest and lust, the emerald of the forest, an epoch making castle This embossed signs onto my sinuous arms shall be the encomium of my victorious acts balk as they stood at my ablazed hordes
I turned their ground into a mosaic of bloody thorns
I hold the sunbeams like sky does the moral's world like mother Earth the penis of father Ouranos I shout to my creators, "I'm the lord" and my voice becomes one with the astral vault In this brimstone dale where adders etch the skinland deep, yet sweet I'll crow over my success once more, aye, aye high in the crescent moon's flourished kingdom never cave in Those I quoth, those I done Kennel of the kennel across
