Behold the shades of twilight
Reign upon the death of daylight
As the howling calls the might
Of a fearsome brood of the night

May shadow befall all
May there be abhorrence for all
May all be drowned in sorrow
May all their lives wither and hollow

Heed the call of the eldest horror
The master of unearthly terror
The symphony of Paimon's roar
To whom we serve and pledge our dark souls

Awaken and roam in darkness
Eyes flaming with the breath of Amon
Our steps are marked with vileness
For downfall is what we feast upon

Reign supreme in flawless secrecy
For silence will bring them lunacy
When the call is heard from the black throne
We are but wolves of Abaddon
