We were sitting in a car, looking out at all the stars
Well I had to talk to you, I had to get through to you Well we talked all through the night, 'cause we knew the time was right
Well we probably reached the end, but we're going round again.

Wheelin', dealin', stealin', wheelin'

Well the very next day we were standing on the stage
It was in the open air, there were lots of people there
In the middle of a song, everything was going wrong
Well we all forgot to change, everyone was feeling strange.
