Leaving my body in time, I follow the thread of memories

The season that chilly wind blows, loneliness begins to overflow, and burns in my chest

Your figure grows hazy in a blur
Don't disappear into the darkness
The light of the moon becomes more radiant
And illuminates it

The tears stream down my cheeks, spilling over and falling through "time"

I follow you looking back on the days of last mutual thoughts

I wished to the bottom of the sea of stardust
A fragment of sorrow fell, dancing

Far away far away, Even if I'm separated
I should see the same moon
Only my heart will be next to you

Your figure grows hazy in a blur
Don't disappear into the darkness
The light of the moon becomes more radiant
And illuminates it

I'll continue searching for you
I walk the journey of a far away "time"
I pass through the spiral of separation and encounters
To carry these feelings
