Everything is forever
But nothing feels, nothing feels the same
Everything, just everything is for better
That's the only way I can explain

How many summers In front of us?
How many loved ones left behind?
How many cups of coffee in front of me?
How many friends..still alive?

Everything I want from you
Is everything I want from me
Everything I do for you,
Is so everything I do for myself

Winter comes and winter goes
Kingdoms rise and kingdoms fall
You and I like a living proof

Everything is forever
But nothing feels, nothing feels the same
Everything, just everything is for better
That's the only way I can explain

How many stories and how many glories?
How many children left in vain? Died in vain?
How many mothers and how many brothers?
How many friends...still alive?

Everything is forever, but nothing feels, nothing feels,
nothing feels the same
