If it's fragile
I think it's worthwhile
And if you break on me
Well accidents happen
Cos if it's fragile
I think it's worthwhile
And if you break on me
It's nothing to see
Well accidents happen

If your gonna break down
And just break down
And if you break on me
There's nothing to see
If your gonna break down
And just break down
And if you break on me

So if you want to
Hold onto
What it is we had
It's all blackened and shattered
So if you want to
Hold onto
What it is we had
It's really lumber
It's all blackened and shattered

If your gonna break down
And just break down
And if you break on me
There's nothing to see
If your gonna break down
And just break down
And if you break on me, oh ho

Why is the last word
So wholesome?
And the widths in me
Are broken and flattered
Why is the last word
So wholesome?

And the widths in me
Are like the dead sea
It's all broken and flattered

If your gonna break down
And just break down
And if you break on me
There's nothing to see
If your gonna break down
And just break down
And if you break on me- eee-yeah!

If your gonna break down
And just break down
And if you break on me
There's nothing to see
And just break down
And if you break on me
You mean nothing to me
