Life is a many curious thing
Everyone wants a diamond ring
Everything that you think you need
But you still don't feel so happy
Furs and leathers they're all so nice
But they can't change the weather
In your heart - cold as ice
I've been there many times before
But I've finally found the answer

Chorus:
There's money in the pocket
Diamonds in the drawer
Still you're feeling empty
Nobody knows why
Until you find the answer
I think you need to know
You can gain the whole world
But you cannot save your soul

[Chorus]

Well you won't find joy in the things you buy
You can't fill that void with the car you drive
You can shop 'till you drop, but you will not find
The answer to your questions

Now I can see where you're standing, my friend
You need something more on which you can depend
There's a god up above who gave all of his love
So that we could know the answer
