I'm sentimental
So I walk in the rain
And I've got daydreams galore
Cigarette ashes
There they go on the floor
I go away weekends
And leave my keys in the door
Why try to change me now

Why can't I be more conventional
People talk, people stare, so I try
But that's not for me
Because I, I can't see
My kind of crazy world go
Passing me by

So let people wonder
Let them talk, let them frown
Till the moon's upside down
Don't you remember
I was always your clown
So why try to change me now
Why try to change me now
