She got your pictures out and asked me what's her name
I said it's just a girl I knew yesterday
She asked for more... and I gave her less
She asked for more so I gave her less
She's just a girl who lives far away
I never liked her much anyway
She's just a girl who lived in yesterday
It wouldn't have worked out anyway
She saw your letter... and asked me what's going on
I said it's just some words I wrote down for a song
She asked for more... so I had to confess
She was asking for lies... and I gave her my best
She's just a girl who lives far away
I never liked her much anyway
She's just a girl who lived in yesterday
It wouldn't have worked out anyway
She saw your pictures and asked me what's her your name
I said please don't make me go through it again
She asked for more... so I tried my best
Walked out the door so I told her one last time
You're just a girl who's living far away
I never liked you much anyway
You're just a girl who lives in yesterday
It wouldn't have worked out anyway
You're just a girl who lives far away
I never liked you much anyway
You're just a girl who lives in yesterday
It wouldn't have worked out anyway
