the pressure inside me could blow up my head deep inside me I wish they would drop dead to avoid hazards be friendly instead never say never

there's always a chance it will work out alright your life may be dark but always shine light you can decide when hard times are over just remember never say never feed me with energy to get through this regretting the times so deeply I've missed whispering the words on my personal list
