frightened walking down an unpleasant street surrounded by many trees black clouds in the sky, rain drops in the air, the touch of a cold breeze he's feeling observed as he continues to walk realizing what happened to him

it's a rainy night
blinded by the light of reality

shining down on me

sincerely apologising to himself his entire past was a sin confused by the thoughts rotating in his mind he's totally disturbed inside confessions to be made, problems to be salved, must be settled tonight
