The hands of the youth rises up a new era, a new generation we will not stand on the sidelines to witness game over for this nation

You call us villains but we don't steal and we all know how you drained us for our self esteem you're broadcasting hatred your broadcasting lies

History will fade away so reach for the timeless fire, the faith won't die The truth of our leaders is what we forget and we failed to move on from the vipers attack

And it burns, side by side, by the grace that destroys everything on it's road

This is my soul's last fight straight from the heart against all the serpents and traitors cause they tormented this earth too long but this long lasting act of love will defeat them all

We will fire with everything we got, we will not stand here and watch it rot
