Oh your love, your love is running through my life And your words, your words are running through my mind

Oh your blood, your blood is running through my veins
And your lines, your lines appear around my eyes

beyond these years
And beyond what we can see
beyond these years

Oh your skin, your skin is wrapped around my bones
And your past, your past is carved upon my face

beyond these years
And beyond what we can see
beyond these years

Oh my love, my love is running through your life And my words, my words are running through your mind
