Visit "Raise Your Head" on MotoLyrics.com

Raise your head, raise your head tired eyes that see the dead,
If only they could hear you
Another look is all you need and this day holds more than it makes,
Trying to deceive you

They could take everything, everything that you own
Ship it in a box across the sea
Words don't mean a thing they always sink so slow,
All you ever needed was me

Across the town they're saying how you glued your hands upon the ground
So you could be much closer
But no one's forcing you away, found your calling here today,
I thought that you were stronger

They could take everything, everything that you own
Ship it in a box across the sea
Words don't mean a thing they always sink so slow,
All you ever needed was me

So lean on me, lean on me now,

Lie awake, lie awake while the whole world lies in wait
You always seem so distant
As you stand upon this land raise a glass to the commands
That make up your existence

They could take everything, everything that you own
Ship it in a box across the sea
Words don't mean a thing they always sink so slow,
All you ever needed was me

So lean on me, lean on me now,
Oh lean on me, lean on me now

Time is time so won't you come my way
Time is time so won't you come my way

Time is time so won't you come my way
Time is time so come on
